

Special Eurobarometer 528

European citizens' attitudes towards labour mobility

Almost 1 in 5 Europeans envisage working in a country outside their own country in the future

18% <sup>+ 1 pp*</sup> envisage working outside their country at some time in the future, even for a short time

In most cases, this represents a plan for the foreseeable future

Europeans from different countries have different views on the length of their projected stay

*Points evolution since 2009

Source: Special Eurobarometer 528 – "Intra-EU Labour Mobility after the pandemic", section 2 and 3 to the executive summary in the report. Fieldwork: May/June 2022

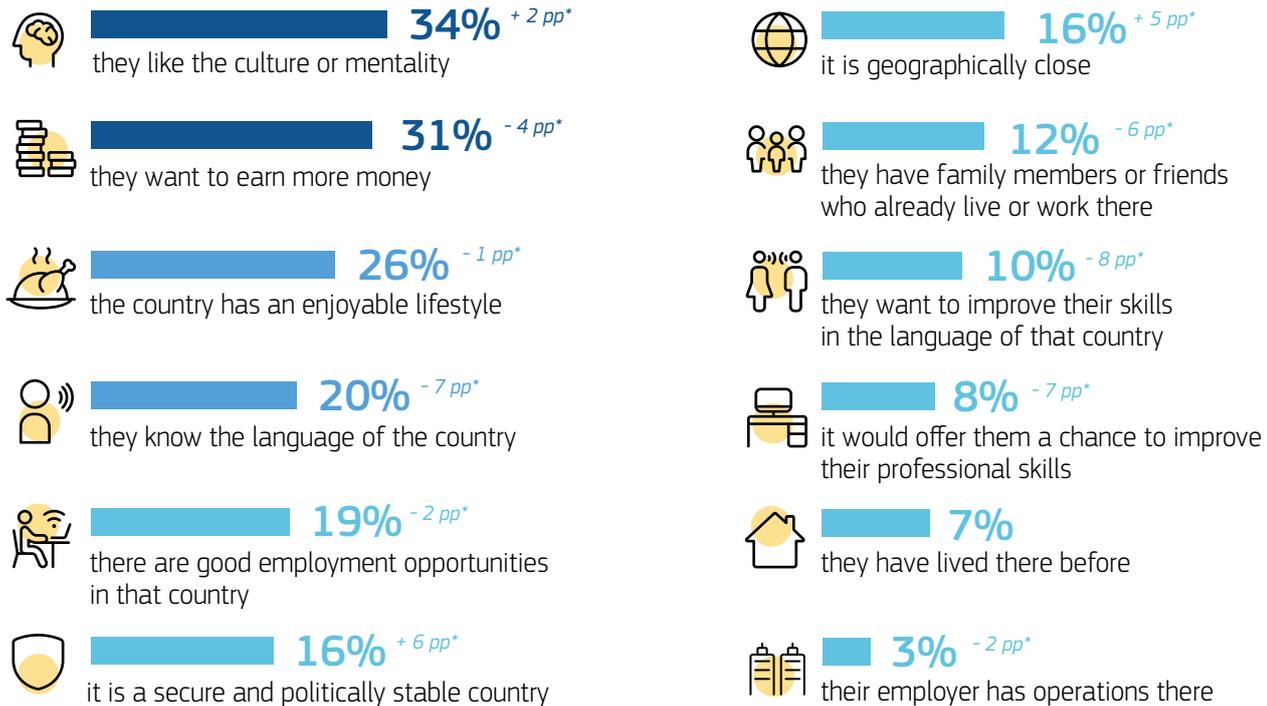

Special Eurobarometer 528

European citizens' attitudes towards labour mobility

Mentality and money matter the most in the choice to move abroad

Would prefer to move to a specific country(ies) for work because...

Personal contacts are the main channel used to find a job in another country

*Points evolution since 2009

Source: Special Eurobarometer 528 – "Intra-EU Labour Mobility after the pandemic", section 2 and 3 to the executive summary in the report. Fieldwork: May/June 2022